SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 459—EXPRESSING SUPPORT FOR THE DESIGNATION OF THE WEEK BEGINNING ON NOVEMBER 8, 2021, AS "NATIONAL SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY WEEK"

Mr. PADILLA (for himself and Ms. SMITH) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions:

S. RES. 459

Whereas all children and youth learn best when they are healthy, supported, and receive an education that meets their individual needs;

Whereas schools can more effectively ensure that all students are ready and able to learn if schools meet all the needs of each student;

Whereas learning and development are directly linked to the mental health of children, and a supportive learning environment is an optimal place to promote mental health;

Whereas sound psychological principles are critical to proper instruction and learning, social and emotional development, prevention and early intervention, and support for a culturally diverse student population;

Whereas school psychologists are specially trained to deliver mental health services and academic support that lower barriers to learning and allow teachers to teach more effectively;

Whereas school psychologists facilitate collaboration that helps parents and educators to identify and reduce risk factors, promote protective factors, create safe schools, and access community resources;

Whereas school psychologists are trained to assess barriers to learning, utilize data-based decisionmaking, implement research-driven prevention and intervention strategies, evaluate outcomes, and improve accountability;

Whereas State educational agencies and other State entities credential more than 35,000 school psychologists who practice in schools in the United States as key professionals that promote the learning and mental health of all children;

Whereas the National Association of School Psychologists establishes and maintains high standards for training, practice, and school psychologist credentialing, in collaboration with organizations such as the American Psychological Association, that promote effective and ethical services by school psychologists to children, families, and schools;

Whereas the National Association of School Psychologists has a Model for Comprehensive and Integrated School Psychological Services that promotes standards for the consistent delivery of school psychological services to all students in need;

Whereas the people of the United States should recognize the vital role school psychologists play in the personal and academic development of the Nation's children; and

Whereas the week beginning on November 8, 2021, would be an appropriate week to designate as National School Psychology Week: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the designation of National School Psychology Week;

(2) honors and recognizes the contributions of school psychologists to the success of students in schools across the United States; and

(3) encourages the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate ceremonies and activities that promote awareness of the vital role school psychologists play in schools, in the community, and in helping students develop into successful and productive members of society.

Mr. PADILLA, Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the National School Psychology Week, which I introduced today.

Children and youth learn best when they are healthy and supported, physically and mentally. Learning and development are linked to the mental health of children, and a supportive learning environment is an optimal place to also promote mental health, social and emotional development, and prevention and early intervention.

Our school psychologists are able to deliver mental health services that lower barriers to learning, identify and reduce risk factors for mental illness, and create safer school environments for our children.

I am proud to recognize the vital role school psychologists play in the personal and academic development of our children by designating the week beginning on November 8, 2021 as “National School Psychology Week.”

School psychologists and other mental health professionals play a critical role in helping students develop into successful and productive members of society. They can empower children to grow their social skills, empathy, and compassion for others, as well as problem solving, goal setting, and study skills.

Since the COVID-19 pandemic began, the student mental health crisis has only intensified and further highlighted the need for comprehensive mental and behavioral health supports and social-emotional learning. School psychologists can provide important mental health services, including counseling, suicide risk assessment and intervention, behavior management, and threat assessment and interventions. We need to create safe, healthy, and supportive learning environments that strengthen connections between home, school, and the community.

I want to thank Representatives FITZPATRICK, PANETTA, KATKO, and CHU for introducing this bill with me, and I hope our colleagues will join us in support of this resolution.
